

Domain registration

World-wide domain registration

A professional internet presence requires the registration of an individual internet domain address. A domain is as unique as a telephone number, only that the domain is accessible in the internet.

Our company has offered customers the registration and administration of domains for more than twelve years. Our customers can trust in our year-long experience in this field. We offer domains in more than 220 countries with over 300 different domain addresses/ TLD (top-level domains), as for example ".de" for Germany, ".at" for Austria, ".be" for Belgium, ".pl" for Poland, ".com.au" for Australia, ".hk" for Hong Kong.

Register domains now

To register domains, please proceed to our domain website at www.DomainProvider.de, where you can test the availability of the desired domain address.

At www.DomainProvider.de you will also find information about the registration requirements needed to purchase our domain addresses, further information and news regarding internet domains, as well as various domain tools, such as "Whois", "Ping" or "Tracert".

Registrant information

If you wish to inquire about an already registered domain, for example, who the registrant of a specific domain is, you can do so at our website www.Whois24.de.
